People take different actions when seeing a stranger who needs help. In psychology, there are two theories about the way people act in that situation, (31) the bystander effect and the Good Samaritan effect. A bystander is a person who sees a problem but just stands and watches, and a Good Samaritan refers to the one who helps a stranger in trouble. The bystander doesn't (32) to help, whereas the Good Samaritan jumps in to lend a hand. A bystander does not help because he or she does not want to look foolish by making a mistake when trying to help out. (33), a Good Samaritan helps because he or she wants others to see how helpful he or she is. In addition, a Good Samaritan pays close attention (34) other Good Samaritans. His or her action is based on what others are doing. If he or she sees others helping, he or she is more likely to help (35). So, when you see a stranger in need, will you be a bystander or a Good Samaritan?

As modern board games are becoming more and more popular in Taiwan, stores featuring these games keep popping up around the island. Some sell games only; others don't only sell them, but also hold meetings and competitions to promote them.

To encourage more people to join them, most of the staff in these stores are trained to find the right games for everyone, including those who are new to these games. Besides, some of the stores even teach people how to play certain games.

Of course, there are also stores in which customers can play a game while drinking coffee or eating snacks at the same time. Maybe the coffee is not as good as that in a Starbucks, but providing customers with an interesting board game to play definitely gives these places an edge.

44. () What is this article mainly about?
 (A) Traditional board games. (B) Modern board games. (C) Board game stores. (D) Coffee in Starbucks.
 45. () How do board game stores promote their games, according to the passage?
 (A) By providing customers with Starbucks coffee.
 (B) By spending big money on advertising the games.
 (C) By introducing customers to difficult games.
 (D) By holding game competitions.
 46. () Before you buy a board game, what can you do if you are new to this type of game?
 (A) Ask the staff for advice.
 (B) Pay some extra money to play one.
 (C) Check the Starbucks website.
 (D) Take part in a competition.
 47. () Which of the following has the closest meaning to the word "edge" as used in the article?
 (A) Difficulty. (B) Advantage. (C) Style. (D) Tradition.
 48. () Which of the following is true?
 (A) Modern board games are becoming more popular in Taiwan.
 (B) Board game stores in Taiwan only sell games.
 (C) Board game competitions are always held online.
 (D) Starbucks provides customers with board games.

Dear Toy Box Customer Services,

I recently bought a Toy Box from your website because my seven-year-old son is interested in 3D printing. At first, our Toy Box was amazing. It took me less than five minutes to set it up. It was easy to use, and it quickly printed toys for my son and his friends. However, this morning my son woke to find the Toy Box completely shut down. It just doesn't work anymore. I took it to a local home appliance store, but they said they didn't know how to fix it. I wonder if there is a tech support number I can call, or can I send it back to you for repair?

Best wishes,
 Andres Pompanos

49. () What is Toy Box? (A) 3D software. (B) A 3D-printed toy. (C) A 3D printer. (D) A toy company.
 50. () Why has Andres written this e-mail?
 (A) To get something fixed. (B) To buy a toy. (C) To complain about a clerk. (D) To express thanks.
 51. () What did Andres try before writing this e-mail?
 (A) Asking his son for help. (B) Calling tech support. (C) Returning the Toy Box. (D) Visiting a local store.
